Architectural Drawings, ca. 1967-2009
Plans B (stored in vault)

Introduction

This collection contains the architectural drawings of Donald F. McKnight (1933-2020) of Barre, Vermont, during the period 1967-2009. The collection was donated to the Vermont Historical Society by Dennis N. Perrault, his accountant and guardian, in 2019. The collection is stored in 40 folders in the Leahy Library's vault.

Biographical Note

Donald F. McKnight was born on April 16, 1933, the son of Mildred (Bombard) and Howard G. McKnight, Sr. He attended Lincoln Elementary School and graduated from Spaulding High School in 1951. He went on to attend the Barre School of Memorial Art. From 1953 to 1955, he served in the United States Army as an illustrator for the Airborne Department.

He married first Beverly Ann Robinson on July 15, 1954. They divorced on October 19, 1956. On May 6, 1961, he married Erminia "Mini" Coletti in Montpelier. She died on Sept. 20, 2011, and on February 8, 2014, Don married Florence Mary-Ellen "Molly" Abare. McKnight lived in a modern home he designed for himself on Skylark Terrace in Barre.

McKnight first went to work for the Bob Young Studio in Barre as a monument artist and then for Rock of Ages in Graniteville as a monument designer. He never attended architectural school but was self-trained as an architect. He passed the state's architectural exam in 1972. He then formed his own business, McKnight Associates, Architects. McKnight died on April 28, 2020, at The Arbors at Shelburne, in Shelburne, Vermont.

Scope and Content

This collection contains original and printed architectural drawings for approximately 270 projects of Donald F. McKnight (1933-2020) of Barre, Vermont, during the period 1967-2009. The drawings are arranged loosely by building type in 40 folders.

The collection includes plans for residential, commercial, and civic projects. Most of his projects were in the Barre-Montpelier area. His projects include St. Monica Catholic Church, the Elks and Canadian Clubs, Union Mutual Insurance Co., several HUD projects including North Barre Manor (Barre's tallest building), and numerous retail establishments. McKnight's biggest project was Wildersburg Common, a planned residential community in Barre Town.

McKnight designed homes for some of the business leaders of Barre and Montpelier. The collection includes approximately 110 residential projects. The collection does not include plans for McKnight's own house and office, which presumably stayed with the house once it was sold.

McKnight's architectural style leaned toward 1970s modern but stayed traditional when necessary. His residential projects are both very modern and very traditional. Some of his storefronts, like that for Capitol Stationers in Montpelier, were very modern. His renovations for St. Monica Church and the Elks Club, both in Barre, show his modernist impulses. His own home on Skylark Terrace was a pair of white cubes linked by a raised, covered walkway. None of his commissions in this collection reached this level of modernity.

This collection had little original order when it arrived at the Vermont Historical Society. Plans for some projects had been kept rolled up in a tube storage box with a key. These were relatively distinct and were kept intact. Other plans had been removed from flat storage drawers in Mr. McKnight's office and bundled together with string. Unfortunately, we found that many projects were scattered amongst different drawers. Our goal was to bring all the drawings of each project in one place, and then organize the projects by type of building. This was a monumental task at which we were only partially successful.

Each of the 40 folders in this collection generally contains a distinct building type, though we weren't always able to adhere to this scheme because of the size of the collection. The table below can be resorted by column to provide different groupings of projects. Although over 1700 sheets of paper were saved in this collection, the collection was also weeded as it was processed. Generally, the very detailed series of plans for large, commercial projects were discarded. These included electrical, plumbing, and structural plans. We selected plans for Wildersburg Common, but many were discarded for space reasons.

This collection does not contain any business records. It includes one folder of sketches on yellow legal paper for a house for Richard and Mary Scheiber in Cabot (1989). These few pieces of paper show how McKnight began to formulate ideas for a house, perhaps while talking with his clients.

Related Collections

One folder of information about the Barre Rifle and Pistol Club has been moved to MSA 890:08. Donald McKnight was an active member of this organization and also did some simple design work for them.
