"I Will Go Out and Walk Upon the Hills"

I will go out and walk upon the hills
When day has scarcely burned the dawn away.
I will breathe deep of sunny wind that fills
My valley with a shimmering green at play.
High on the brow of some blue-shadowed knoll
A Presence waits to touch and make me whole.

There is a decalogue which these high hills
Cry to my heart. Carved clear upon the stone
Of my imperishable memories
They give me back the truths which I have known:
The tortured trail that struggling climbs and climbs;
The breathing earth I love, torn wide with scars;
And yet—the miracle of green sprung from the wound!
The clearing somewhere open to the stars!

I will go out into the waking day
And walk upon the hills a long, long way.

Foreword

"Vermont is a way of life," to quote Vermont Life. Much can be said on this subject but most people will agree that to grow up and be educated in Vermont is a unique experience. We, the class of 1952, present this book, not only as a product of our class and community but also as a guide to the Vermont way of life. Four years ago we entered Spaulding as young, unlearned freshmen filled with awe of these halls of learning where tradition and progress went hand in hand. Now, four years later, we exit as more learned and worldly individuals.

Some of us are now ready to become more active members of our community.

Others of us will go on to college and learn to become more useful members of our community. But whatever we do in future years we know that our characters and personalities have been, by now, molded and chiseled by the adults of this community—our faculty, our advisors, our churches, and our civic clubs and organizations.

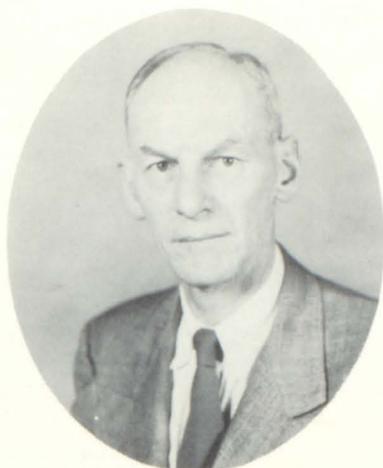

And no matter what parts of the world we find ourselves in, home will always be in the beautiful green hills of Vermont where we were taught responsibility, dependability, and fairness, those all-important virtues which make a strong individual and a good citizen.

OUR COUNSELORS AND

MR. CHARLES G. TAYLOR
Superintendent of Schools

Mr. Taylor, superintendent of the Barre City Schools, is a graduate of Maine and Harvard Universities where he received his A.B. and Ed.M. degrees. Working with and helping students are among Mr. Taylor's many interests. He is a member of the Adult Council of the Lighthouse and has done much toward the improvements and progress of it. Mr. Taylor has also shown his civic interest by taking part in the several charitable activities. Working on the Boy Scout committees and putting around the house are a few of Mr. Taylor's many enjoyments. We are grateful for his help and guidance received through our school years.

MR. FRANK MAYO
Principal

The job of making sure that everything runs smoothly (and, believe me, it's a hard one) belongs to Mr. Mayo. You see him around the halls every day, always ready with a friendly word or a bit of advice. He has had much to do with the classroom improvements and new teaching techniques used here.

Besides all this, Mr. Mayo is a loyal Spaulding rooter. Even when our team has played a particularly poor game, he has something pleasant to say about it. He is a graduate of the University of Massachusetts and received his Ed.M. from Boston University.

Your Community

To the members of the graduating class:

Here in Vermont and in some other New England states the words "community" and "neighbor" have long been associated with a feeling of closeness and friendliness. To many people the community has been their life, their world, and their frontier.

Today that feeling, fostered and nurtured over the years, has become a symbol of our American heritage. It has become expanded and developed but perhaps not understood.

This understanding rests, in large measure, on the shoulders of you young people for greater diffusion and development. The more you learn and the more you are willing to understand, the wider your personal world grows, and therefore, the larger your community.

It is as big as you make it. Use your education to help push back the limits of the world you live in, until all the world is one community and all are neighbors.

OUR GUIDES WITHOUT WHOM

As Director of Guidance, Mr. Devine has taken an active interest in the personal problems of many Spauldingites. His and his staff's activities have helped us find the answers to perplexing educational and vocational problems, determine our aptitudes, abilities, and interests, and, in many cases, to be placed in jobs in line with our aptitudes and the training we received here at Spaulding.

FACULTY

There are four curriculums open to the students of Spaulding; College, Academic, Commercial, and Trade. These provide the student with a general understanding of his vocation or with a detailed one, whichever the case may be. Among the subjects taught at Spaulding are three languages besides English, several kinds of math, regular commercial subjects and four sciences. Civics is a required subject for every freshman, and every student must take English four years and United States History before he graduates. Besides the subjects which are our foundation and which hold prevalence, are the many extra-curricula activities in which the Spauldingite may participate. These include clubs for the different languages, with the exception of English, Speech and Drama, band, orchestra, Glee Club, and, of course, sports—basketball, baseball, and football. And who are the most unappreciated people in Spaulding? The faculty, of course. They spend hours and days planning class work which will give us basic and fundamental knowledge, and all we do is complain about homework. To them we owe our complete thanks.

WE WOULD NEVER HAVE

DEDICATION

This year two of its best known teachers are leaving Spaulding and the teaching profession. They are Miss Stella M. Brooks and Miss Faith B. Linsley. To them, for long years of faithful and loyal service, we dedicate this Echo. We, the class of 1952, are fortunate in having had them for teachers. Miss Brooks taught us not only Latin, but courtesy and responsibility as well. Miss Linsley, through a lot of extra work and research, has given us a more complete view of England and its literature. To them we say, "Good bye and good luck."

At last the long awaited day had arrived. In September of 1948, we entered Spaulding as inexperienced freshmen. It took us about three weeks to get accustomed to high school. After that period of going into the wrong rooms and forgetting what class came next vanished, things really began to happen.

Our first social was the Freshman reception which was sponsored by the Student Council. At this social we met many new friends and classmates.

We showed good judgment in electing class officers that year. They were: President, Markey Sassi; Vice-president, Madeline Lague; Secretary, Pauline Rouleau; and Treasurer, George Milne.

THE RAW MATERIALS . . .

Our J.V. Cheerleaders chosen that year were: Carmen Matte, Janet Murphy, Jackie Eastman, Nancy Cyr, and Madeline Lague. The latter two were later chosen varsity cheerleaders.

During the year our class received quite an honor in the field of sports. Our J.V. team went through the season undefeated, and a freshman homeroom won the inter-homeroom basketball tournament.

The Freshman Class presented their play, The Ring and the Look. These students proved their dramatic abilities by taking second place honors in the inter-class play contest.

We had made a good start and so on to the next year.

LEON INDUNI and MARY LYONS caught in a tender moment

Director GERALD YANDOW gives a few pointers to SUKEY NICHOLS, LEON INDUNI, LORENZO CHIODI, and MARY LYONS

We began our Sophomore year with a little more confidence in ourselves. The hurry and scurry of finding classrooms was old to us. Then, too, there were the freshmen who looked up to us. They made us feel quite worldly and mature.

For our class officers we chose George Milne as President, Marcy Rouleau as Vice-president, Pauline Rouleau as Secretary, and Audrie MacLeod as Treasurer. These four directed the work on our Sophomore Hop which was held in October on Friday the 13th. It was complete with black cats, witches, and unlucky numbers. The Hop was one of the best dances of the year and quite a sizeable profit was turned into our treasury.

This was the year that we chose our class rings. The committee—all girls—spent an entire morning choosing and finally narrowed the choices down to three. In the final vote we selected one with a blue stone as a background which was quite unique.

For the first time in five years, Spaulding, with a top-notch team, won the state championship. We trekked down to Boston but were sadly defeated by a superior Somerville five.

As the end of the year approached, we looked forward to the next when we would finally be upperclassmen.

We highlighted our sophomore year, and at the same time proved our dramatic ability, by winning the Inter-class Play Contest with an old-fashioned "mellerdrammer" called The City Slicker and Our Nell, complete with a sneering, mustachioed villain and a shy, country flower.

None of us will ever forget our hectic preparations for that play, which included building what we hoped resembled the "settin" room of a cabin in the hills and finding some very hilarious costumes. It took a lot of work, but we feel it was worth it!

Exciting is the word to describe the atmosphere during the week before the memorable trip to Boston. Many memories of hotels, restaurants, and the game will always be in the minds of those who were lucky enough to attend.

Although, to many students, the Boston Tournament was the highlight of the year, an equally enjoyable performance was the Junior Play. The play proved to be so realistically presented that chills were running along the spines of many members of the audience. Of course, Jackie's rescuing Ronnie from Maureen eased the tension and gave the play a happy ending.

THEY GO THROUGH THE

JACKIE SHEPARD, MAUREEN DEVINE, SANDY PHILIP and RONNIE THOW in "High Window," their first stab at drama

MARCY ROULEAU goes in for a lay-up to complete a perfect break-a-way at Boston Garden in the N.E. Tournament game against Bridgeport, Conn., which we lost 57 to 39.

Remember our Junior Prom? The results of six months of hard work! Then that May evening—a nice warm Spring evening; we rode up to the Auditorium in expectation of a wonderful time. We weren't disappointed. Excited couples in their best clothes hastily checked their coats and hurried on to the main floor. As we walked through a white garden gate lined by birch trees, we saw a large wishing well in the middle of the floor flanked by trees and grass. Covering the walls were favors with little wishing rings attached—one for each person. You didn't have to guess to discover our theme was "Wishing." The Norwich Grenadiers furnished the musical background for our gala affair. It was quite a view from the balcony; wishing well crowded by couples throwing in pennies, gayly decorated "wishing" walls, and couples having a wonderful time dancing to the haunting melodies of the Grenadiers. Remember our Junior Prom?

"A penny in the wishing well, good wishes tonight we foretell"

PLANING PROCESS AND EMERGE

One of the most colorful events of the year, "Our Prom"

As juniors we were kept busy with games, dances, and the usual activities; but the highlight of the year was our Prom—a huge success! The class showed good judgment when they chose as their officers: Arthur Solomon, President; Eveline Samson, Vice-president; Russell Camire, Secretary; and Janet Murphy, Treasurer. Delegates to Girls' and Boys' State were chosen, and on the Monitor posts could be seen a few honored juniors proudly wearing the symbolic badge.

Another outstanding event of the year was the winning of the State Basketball Tournaments. School was closed for two days to allow the students to attend the New England Tourney at Boston Garden. This trip is one which will well be remembered by all who went, although Bridgeport did prevent us from bringing the desired honor home.

Yes, we were caught up in a whirl of excitement during our first year as upper-classmen and eagerly awaited the day when we would be—Seniors!

An everyday occurrence in Room 114—Detention!

AS THE FINISHED PRODUCT

Seniors!! The raw material was almost a finished product. The monitors were on the job patiently directing the traffic, and the underclassmen's admiring looks bolstered our egos.

Jack Frattini was class President; Warner Shedd, Vice-president; Jackie Shepard, Treasurer; and Margaret Goyette, Secretary.

Our first money-making project was a gigantic food sale which netted us a tidy sum. The turnover from our Senior Play and the sale of Spaulding banners helped, too.

The Echo staff got off to a bad start but finally settled down to produce a successful yearbook.

Almost before we knew it, we had reached the top of the foothill, but though the big climb is yet to come, we'll fondly recall those memorable years at S. H. S.

A typical monitor gab session.

COLLECTING

When the Echo Staff of 1952 was given the responsibility of composing the yearbook last fall, little did it realize the hard work that lay before it. With Mr. Nickless as the advisor, we got off to an early start but didn't seem to progress too quickly. We found that collecting and refining the material was not as easy as it at first seemed. There were many things the staff discovered it didn't know and many were the times it went running to Mrs. McGill for advice on countless problems that only experience such as hers could have provided. After several meetings we decided on the printer, the kind of cover, the price, and the theme. Of course, while this was going on, we were busily at work writing biographies and soliciting ads. Then came the toughest work of all—laying out the pages, writing the copy, and doing the art work. By the time we finally finished our work, we had come to really appreciate the 1952 Our Echo.

Sentinel

Now for a peek into the Sentinel office. Here, on the day of deadline, can be found some of the queerest happenings. A mad, rushing array of editors confronts the spectator as he tries to enter the door. Until 6:00 at night, typewriters are clicking madly and stories fly all over the place. Then the time comes to make up the pages. Then the editors really wish that print was made out of rubber instead of lead. But finally, the pages are finished, and the whole staff anxiously awaits the coming of the printed Sentinel. The day before the paper comes out, the Sentinel comes up to the office, ready to be folded and tied in bundles. The next day, the Sentinel comes out and the editors smilingly gaze over the fruits of their labor. Despite all the work, sweat, and difficulties, the work is loads of fun. It is really quite a thrill to see the stories and pictures come out in print. It is fun, and the good times spent in making each issue of the Sentinel will not be forgotten.

EXTRA! EXTRA!

MR. ALLISON

You'll see a patient, good-humored man working many an afternoon in the Sentinel Office. This is Mr. Luther W Allison, Sentinel Adviser. He has been serving as adviser for over seven years. The Sentinel has, under him, become one of the finest high school papers available. Hats off to a fine adviser!

The monitors are the sign posts of a well-driven highway. They act as guides and traffic cops, and perform many other duties that benefit all four grades. In May of the preceding year, monitors are chosen from the junior class to perform these duties. They are chosen according to dependability, good attendance, and responsibility. This year the monitors made a wise choice in selecting Warner Shedd as Head Monitor.

The Student Council, which is organized to promote good citizenship in the school, extended its projects this year to promoting good sportsmanship at the games. It also got the cafeteria menu placed outside in the hall this year as an experiment to improve service. The council started off the work of the year by welcoming the freshmen to Spaulding at the Freshman Reception, the first dance of the year. The officers of this year's council are Rusty Camire, President; George Milne, Vice-President; Dann Sargent, Treasurer; Rolande Gauthier, Recording Secretary; and Sandra Simpson, Corresponding Secretary. Much credit goes to this governing body for its efforts in making life at Spaulding more pleasant for the students.

POLITICAL PLAY

In June, 1951, eleven boys arrived at Norwich, eagerly looking forward to the prospect of representing Spaulding High School at the annual Boys' State. The first hurdle was getting acquainted with fellow Boys' Staters and councillors with whom we would spend one of the most pleasant weeks of our lives. The next hurdle was building a town government. From our towns we sent representatives to the House and Senate where we quickly organized and began following the usual procedures of presenting and passing bills in legislature. The afternoons were spent participating in baseball, basketball, or track. At the evening assemblies, speakers from all over New England spoke, following which were entertainments presented by boys of the various towns. The grand finale was the big dance for the Girls' and Boys' Staters. On the last day we broke up and returned home with a keener sense of civic responsibility, a greater knowledge of governmental procedures, and a great many friendships which we will cherish for a lifetime.

GIRLS' STATE

GOVERNING GALS

In June of '51 six Spaulding lassies journeyed to Montpelier and Green Mountain Girls' State to learn all about state government and the responsibilities of citizenship. Newly made friends soon conquered any shyness and homesickness they had and they plunged busily into the daily round of town meetings, party meetings, and campaigns. Special programs were held all week, including an address by Governor Emerson at the statehouse on Friday. Although "lights out" was at 10:30, most of the girls could usually be found in discussion (from marks to boys) until very late. The week was climaxed by a big dance at Boys' State on Friday night. With tears and promises they started home on Saturday afternoon, both sadder and wiser.

AND THE BAND

BAND

Under the guidance of Virgilio Mori, the band was off to a good start with the following officers: President, Eugene Galfetti; Vice-President, Kay Dawn Gaylord; and Secretary, Dan Eastman. This year the band was proud to be asked to play for the first time at the Teachers' Convention in Burlington. On the way home from this engagement, a spaghetti dinner was eaten by the band at the Howard Johnson restaurant. Another highlight of the year was playing for the banquet given in honor of Senator Taft, who was on his campaign tour in New England. For the annual spring concert, the band joined with the glee club in presenting an excellent performance which was well attended. Two other big events of the year were the Winooski Valley Music Festival and the State Music Festival in Burlington.

ORCHESTRA

This year, under the guidance of Virgilio Mori, the Spaulding Orchestra elected the following officers: President, Leslie Blanchard; Vice-president, Sylvia Stroutsos; and Secretary, Carol Rizzi. The orchestra's first public appearance was playing for the Senior Play. The next few months were spent practicing, "woodshedding," as Mr. Mori phrases it, for the Spring Concert. The certain few chosen for All-State and Winooski Valley were kept extra busy preparing for these two festivals. Nevertheless, it is agreed that the hard work during the year paid off with very pleasing results.

MUSIC BY THE ANGELS

A spectacular Christmas program was given by the Glee Club, the Girls' Choir, and band and orchestra combined, at the Auditorium.

GLEE CLUB

In September, 1951, the Glee Club, under the direction of Mr. Colin Gray, the new music supervisor, started its year of music by electing Robert Tucker, President; Carol Dernavich, Vice-President; and Phyllis Martin, Secretary. At the annual Christmas Concert in the Auditorium the whole student body watched as the Glee Club marched in through the side doors, and the Girls' Choir, in black choir robes, marched down the center aisle to the music of the band and orchestra combined. The impressive program was the first of two large concerts given by the club. In the spring the Glee Club gave its annual Spring Concert with the band and orchestra. It was the best of clubs under a wonderful adviser.

GIRLS' CHOIR

The newest and most attractive part of the Glee Club is the Girls' Chorus. At the Christmas concert sixty girls dressed in black robes marched to the auditorium stage to sing a number of well-done selections. They also gave one recital at the Universalist Church. The chorus consisted of junior and senior girls. Rehearsals were held after school and at night. The girls felt it was an honor to belong to the chorus and well worth their time.

This is the first year members of all the music departments have organized to preside over the students' musical activities. These fifteen members helped organize the Christmas program and plan the Orchestra, Band, and Glee Club concerts.

Well, Jonathan, you've led a very interesting life.

He wasn't very bright.

Abby, just think, a front lawn again.

MAIDS!

MURDER!

MADNESS!

The hilarious Broadway success, Arsenic and Old Lace, by Joseph Kesselring, was presented by the senior class November 15 and 16 in the high school auditorium. The play centers around two sweet, but insane, old maids whose homicidal mania is justified by them as a means of bringing peace to unhappy men. The plot developing in a quaint, old-fashioned setting creates a ludicrous situation.

The novel experiment of double-casting was worth doing because it gave four, instead of two, talented young ladies a chance to show their acting ability, and it provided the critic an opportunity to compare two cleverly presented interpretations of the old aunts. Maureen Devine and Lois Franco were on Thursday, and Mary Lyons and Joann Reed, Friday. The Thursday performance presented the two old ladies apparently as normal and innocent as your next-door neighbor, but any tragic implications were eliminated by the humor of the dialogue. Friday, however, the two old ladies, as obviously insane as their nephew, plotted murder with a comical and light-hearted lunacy. Both interpretations were competently handled.

Donald Mori portrayed a dramatic critic involved in a real-life drama, while his sweetheart, Juanita Giacomuzzi, in spite of a mid-Victorian upbringing by her minister father, Lorenzo Chiodi, showed that she knew how to chase her man.

Alfred Monty, the tough criminal, and his "doctor" crony, David Cumming, plan a drastic "operation" to insure financial security, but Bill Mann as a talkative, play-acting cop unwittingly saves the victim. He and two other "guardians of the peace," Jack Tobey and Leo Laferriere, proved their ability to solve all crimes but the one under investigation, much to the irritation of their chief, Bill Trueba.

Ramon Benvenuti as the bugle-blowing lunatic, who thinks he is Teddy Roosevelt, Russell Camire as the Superintendent of Happy Dale Sanitarium, and Edward Fumagalli as the near victim of Abby and Martha's good works, rounded out the fine cast.

Good-by, Aunties, I'm off to Africa.

Dummkopf! I schlipped.

FRENCH CLUB

The French Follies and a trip to Montreal climaxed an active year for the French Club. The Follies were something new in the way of club activity. Patterned as a musical review, it contained tap and song solos, chorus numbers, typical French family scenes, and, as a grand finale, an Apache dance. It was presented to both students and adults. With the proceeds from this, the club chartered a bus and spent a weekend in Montreal. The club also took part in the Carousel and gave a broadcast of French carols.

The Spanish Club got underway in September, 1951, with Miss Bixby acting as adviser. The club elected the following officers: President, Alelia Galli; Vice-president, Robert Tucker; Secretary, Marlene DeVecchi; and Treasurer, Marie Rugo. The first big event for the Spanish Club was the Carousel, at which they sponsored the pinata game and the fortune-telling booth. On March 14, the Spanish Club also sponsored a "St. Patrick's Dance." It was attended and enjoyed by many. Of course, the big highlight of the year was the club trip.

The Home Economics Club started off the year by electing the following officers: President, Diana Abare; Vice-President, Giselle Rouleau; Secretary, Joan Vidoli; Treasurer, Jacqueline Lamoureux. Meetings are held every month on the third Wednesday. Any girl who wishes to join may do so. Their program for the year has been one of variety. It included a Christmas program and party, skits prepared by the Home Ec. I students, various speakers invited to talk on subjects such as nursing, grooming, and College Home Economics courses. Hobby shows, talent shows and fashion shows have been given which proved both enjoyable and interesting. To round out the school year a banquet was given which was very successful.

J. C. L.

The Junior Classical League restricted the membership this year to students having three and four years of Latin, and the meetings were held at the home of Miss Brooks, the advisor. Officers selected for the year were Consul, Warner Shedd, and Scriba, Angela Caslani. Programs were planned from Roman life and literature: myths were dramatized; mythical characters were impersonated; the book, Quo Vadis, with the movie were reviewed. At the S.H.S. Carousel the club sponsored chariot racing and dart throwing. The program committee for the year consisted of Dann Sargent, Mary Lyons, Lorraine Spencer, and the club officers.

The Faith Linsley Club of FTA has 22 members this year. Teacher qualifications, working systems, teacher training institutions, and opportunities in several teaching fields were among the topics discussed. Speakers have included a state helping teacher, an exchange teacher from the West, and members of the Spaulding faculty. Seniors have visited the elementary schools; one senior has supervised an upper grade study hall. Early in the year two members attended an Education Workshop in Montpelier; recently two other members went to Montpelier to explain FTA to a group of teachers.

The Future Nurses of America, a newly formed club under the supervision of Mr. Devine, held monthly meetings at the Barre City Hospital. The purpose of the Club was to familiarize the girls with the field of nursing. Each month a different program was set up including skits guest speakers and tours of the hospital. Any question that came to a future nurse's mind about the profession was readily answered and cleared up. The club was a great success and put many a girl on the right road for her vocation.

TWELVE SENIORS

Led by twelve seniors, the Crimson Tide early in September started its task of making life miserable for its nine opponents. On the whole an experienced team, it fulfilled its early promise of being a powerhouse. Its big, rugged line held the opposition to one point for every two Spaulding scored. Only two opponents managed to score more than 14 points against it, and only one held it to less than three touchdowns. Deep Corey, the able coach, took advantage of the regular team's scoring punch several times by using the reserves in the fourth, and sometimes the third, quarter.

Spaulding's line in the first game gave an amazing exhibition of power and ability to capitalize on breaks by scoring four of the five touchdowns in the Tide's trouncing of Winooski, 32-7. Against Cathedral, Spaulding took to the air, with Ronnie Thow completing seven out of ten passes, to win, 27-0. Gloom was cast over the school a week later, when powerhouse Rutland, which was to become State Champ, contained the Spaulding threat and eked out a 14-6 win. Trouncing Mount St. Joseph, which had the nerve to score first, by a 33-6 score, and squeaking by always tough Burlington, 19-13, the Tide took its second and last setback from the Bob Whites of St. Albans, 27-20. A whale of a game, it almost amounted to a duel between Spaulding's charging line and St. Albans' fleet and clever backs. A last quarter surge which netted a touchdown in five plays was not enough to overcome the Northerners' lead. The next two Saturdays brought easy wins over Montpelier, 26-6, and Bennington, 33-6. Against the Springfield Cosmos, however, Spaulding almost met a tartar. Effective team play brought the Tide its final win, though, 33-24.

The seniors who made the 7-2 record possible dominated every position except tackle, where juniors Bashaw and Mugford plugged holes. Captain Davy Deep was the season's standout. No one in the state challenged his title of All-State center. At guards were Ler Chiodi and Art Solomon, also All-State, although playing his first year of football, and their capable subs, Lolly Setien and Fred Ford. At ends were Jack Frattini and Marcey Rouleau, the latter outstanding in the state. T-formation quarterback Ronnie Thow passed and fed the ball to scatback Art Bylow and burly fullback Mogy Gregoire. Markey Sassi, the twelfth senior, had three years' experience behind him, but a bad knee injury shelved him early in the season.

The Crimson Tide's 1951-52 hoop squad very nearly retired the U. V. M. rotating trophy, as it came within points of racking up its third consecutive State Championship. Although the Red Raiders of Rutland managed to spoil Spaulding's hopes by taking the State Finals, the Tide had a brilliant season as they rolled to a 21-5 record. Spaulding finished second behind Cathedral in Northern League play, suffering only two defeats, one by Burlington High School and one by Cathedral.

The first seven Spaulding High School players were seniors, and all had records to be proud of. Bill Mann and Marcey Rouleau came out second and third in Northern League scoring competition by scoring 182 and 178 points respectively. Bill's great rebounding ability and Marcey's fine floor work were also vital factors in the Tide's success. Rusty Camire was the third high man on the team, scoring 144 points and being sixth in league standings. His defensive work was outstanding all year. Bobby Shuttle was a sparkplug on the team with his fine all-around ability, and Dave Deep made a reputation for himself as a brilliant defensive player. Art Solomon and Joe Wark also made names for themselves for their ball-handling and fine defensive ability. These, then, are the seniors who formed a part of the great Spaulding basketball team of 1952. Their exploits have earned them a place in the hearts of Crimson fans.

YEA! TEAM!

COACH RICHARD WESTCOTT

Coach Richard Westcott, new to Spaulding this year, took up the winning ways he had inaugurated before at Milo, Maine, and did a wonderful job in coaching the Crimson Tide in championship play. It was a good combination, the coach and the team, and well worth following.

BATTER UP!

The 1951 baseball season was a great success, so far as the Crimson Tide was concerned. With a veteran team led by Coach Bill Martin, Spaulding came in second in the Northern League and won the Northern Sectional tournament, before bowing to Brattleboro in the State Finals. This 1951 team was a smooth, well-balanced, precision outfit, that attracted the attention of more than one major league scout.

The mound staff consisted of mainstays Harris Yett and Pete Fisher, with Gordie Blow doing the bulk of the relief work. Bill Mann and Warner Shedd completed the hurling corps. On the receiving end of their pitches were catchers Markey Sassi and Lyn Taplin, both of whom did a fine job throughout the season.

The infield was easily the smoothest seen in Vermont high school circles in some time, as Joe Wark at first base, Al McLam at second, Marcey Rouleau at shortstop, and Art Solomon at third, came up with one brilliant double play after another. Bobby Shuttle also did a fine job at filling in nearly every infield position.

In the offensive department, Al McLam, Joe Wark, Art Solomon, and Ronnie Thow were the big stickers, while Marcey Rouleau, Dick Cloutier, and Markey Sassi added some timely hits. All in all, the 1951 Crimson baseball team was a sight to gladden the hearts of Spaulding fans everywhere.

Coach Bill Martin's highly successful three-year stay at Spaulding came to an end, as his baseball team hung up its uniforms. A capable, hard-working coach, he won the respect of every member of his teams and of all Barre sports fans. New Jersey has found, and Barre has lost, a great coach.

The purpose of the G.A.A. is to organize all the girls into some activity and to give credit to those who do well in sports. In bi-monthly meetings, plans are made for carrying on the work and doing something which will be interesting and informative for everyone. Sports include volleyball, soccer, shooting, basketball, bowling, skiing, tennis, hikes, and skating. Under Miss Jones' guidance, this organization has been growing steadily in size and importance.

VARSITY AWARDS

In 1952 the names of nineteen more seniors were added to the list of famous Spaulding athletes. They received sweaters, letters, and emblems for their long hours of practice, their enthusiasm and loyalty, and the well played games. A new aspect of the athletic program in 1949, the awarding of sweaters has become an event looked forward to with anticipation by those who ski, lead cheers, or play football, basketball, and baseball.

OUR CHEERLEADERS

A game isn't complete without the snappy "Rah-Rah" girls in their new red and blue uniforms. The cheerleaders provide the pep and give with the yells which have helped lead the basketball team through three successful seasons. During the football season, the girls donned slacks and sweaters and added flips and cartwheels to their yells. Miss Sandra Bardosi, a former cheerleader, was appointed as adviser to the girls, and under her guidance, new cheers were added. This year, the squad will be losing the services of Nancy Cyr and Captain Madeline Lague through graduation.

The girls demonstrate "We've got the Coach."

OUR MAJORETTES

1-2-3-4, 2-2-3-4, 3-2-3-4,
4-2-3-4.

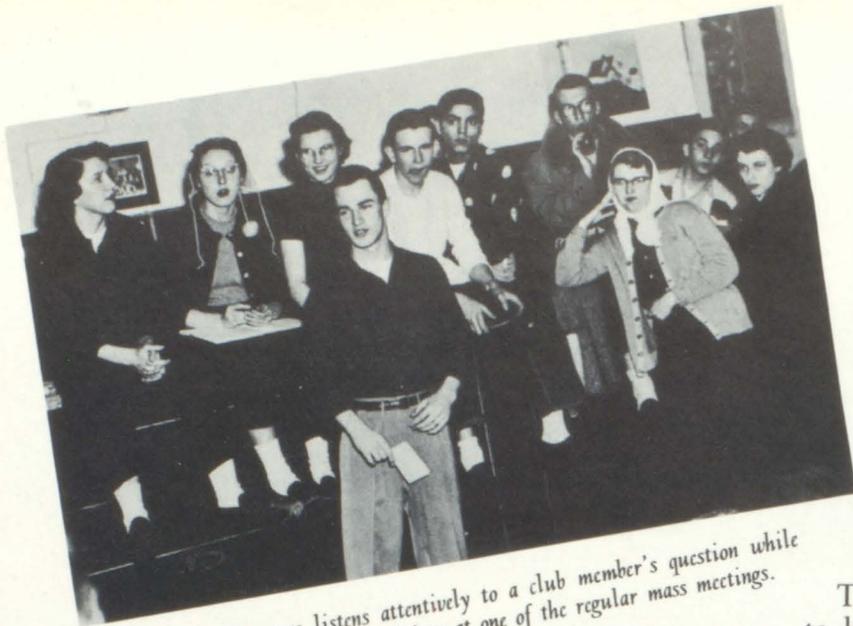

What is it? Just the Majorettes counting as they go through their drill every Friday afternoon, which pays off in a beautiful exhibition of precision twirling and strutting at football and basketball games throughout the year.

At each home football game the Majorettes led the band from Spaulding to the Auditorium and then they performed during the half. They also performed during the half of every home basketball game.

With Captain Billie Brown in the lead, the girls head for the Music Festival in Burlington. The Major-ettes all agree that this is the most fun of the year. This year the Major-ettes are losing four seniors: Willian Brown, Jean Chartrand, Pauline Rouleau, and Mary Lyons. Those girls will certainly miss the fun they have had being Spaulding Major-ettes.

President ART BYLOW listens attentively to a club member's question while others stand ready to add their opinions at one of the regular mass meetings.

WE HAVE A RENDEZVOUS

LIGHTHOUSE

This year the Lighthouse continued to be a favorite meeting place for the teenagers of Barre. Last spring the club moved to a new location behind the Hotel Barre. In the fall a very successful street dance was held to raise money for the Lighthouse. During the winter months a basketball league consisting of four teams was very active, ending its season with a tournament. The officers this year were Arthur Bylow, President; Audrey Spooner, Vice-President; Patricia Friberg, Secretary; and Robert Tucker, Treasurer. The representative to the advisory council was Lois Franco. Several committees carried out the programs and work of the club. The Lighthouse had a very successful year.

Cards and chatter take up the time of PERRY, JOHNSON, ALONZO, ROSSI, and GREENWOOD at the Lighthouse.

GENE PACETTI and PAT HUSSEY play ping-pong, while GEORGE KARNEDY and MARIE RUGO exchange remarks about the game. Note the ball passing GEORGE'S chin.

"Oh!" MARCIA exclaims, as she is caught in the act of playing a hot duo at the much-used piano.

at the Carousel at the Woods

JUDY PASETTO's smile persuades a customer to buy a book.

A look of surprised disbelief crosses Janet Downing's face as MADAM LOLITA tells her fortune.

LET'S MERRY-GO-RIDE

CAROUSEL

On November 27 all student organizations and clubs together with the principal and faculty put on a tremendous entertainment called the Carousel at the Auditorium. Dancing on the main floor, and entertainment during intermission, plus booths downstairs containing games to be played and books, stuffed animals, and old Echoes to be bought composed the total program. The Carousel was held to benefit the Student Council Scholarship Fund.

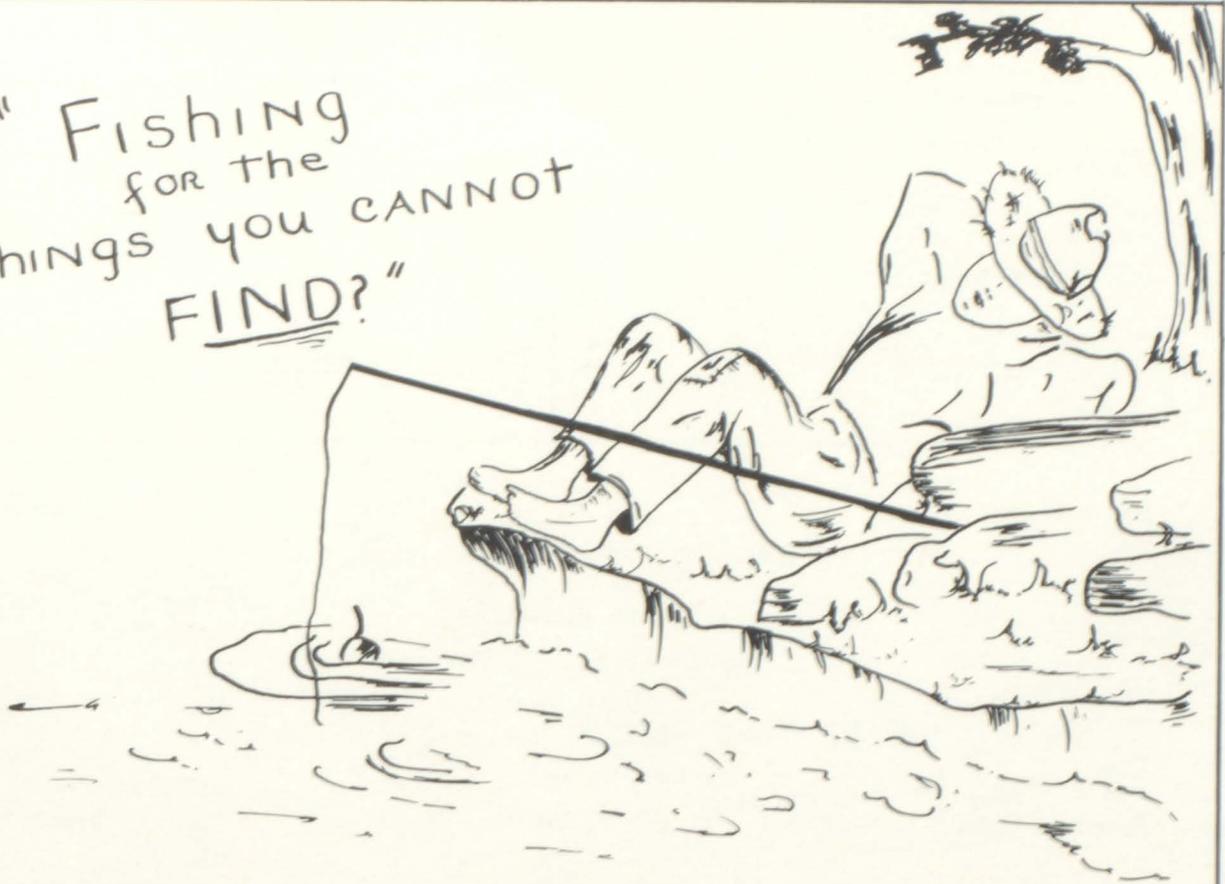

Gleeful faces look on with interest as ART BYLOW pulls the piñata out of the victim's reach.
