Foreword

When we first began our high school life at Spaulding, we found it difficult to adjust ourselves to a new schedule and a day of hard study, but we soon were successfully on our way. Many times we stumbled, yet we remember most those happy memories when we skipped right along to new learnings and social successes. Now, as we look into the golden clouds of the future, some to seek more schooling and others to acquire jobs, we can, looking back, see that we have grown during our four wonderful years at Spaulding.

Our Echo of 1957 will relate the story "Memories are Made of These, Our Years at Spaulding," which we trust each of you will treasure for many years to come.

CLYDE G. FUSSELL, SUPERINTENDENT

Memories are past experiences painted on the canvas of life. They come back to us colored by our attitudes and set against a background of our reverence for God, our respect for the worth of man, our appreciation of the aesthetic, our never failing adherence to honesty in thought, word, and deed, and our loyalty to others.

Clyde G. Fussell

Catherine Rubalcaba is Mr. Fussell's secretary.
Mary Stephen is the bookkeeper of Barre City Schools.

Our superiors

Mr. George Allison, our principal, came to Spaulding from Newport High School. Mr. Allison is a graduate of Brewster Academy in Wolfeboro, N. H., Colby College in Waterville, Maine, where he received his B.S. degree, and of Boston University, where he was awarded the Master of Education degree in 1939. In his professional capacity Mr. Allison has served as president of the Washington Northeast District Teachers' Association, the principals' association of the same district, the Northeast Principals' Association, and the Vermont Headmasters' Association.

Upperclassmen appreciating the higher level of knowledge

while our patient teachers

Freshmen entering the doors of S.H.S. for the first time may pursue one of four curricula: college prep, academic, commercial, or trade and industrial with English predominating in all. In the first three courses leading departments are our foreign languages: French, Latin, and Spanish, which enable a student to learn the tongue of a distant land. Social studies teach us the history, geography, and economy of our great country. All freshmen are required to take civics, and U. S. History must be mastered before graduation. A wide field of science and mathematics are offered to the students. General science for freshmen, biology for sophomores, physics for juniors, and chemistry for seniors are the four sciences taught. Students preparing for college may take four years of mathematics, from algebra to solid geometry and trigonometry. General math is offered for those not planning to further their education. The continuous click of the typewriters, the scratching of the pen when taking shorthand, or the puzzled look on the face of the student whose bookkeeping will not balance—these indicate our future men and women of the business world taking the Commercial Course.

act as guide posts

Boys interested in industrial arts attend three periods at Spaulding each day and then go up on the hill. Here they have a chance to put their knowledge to work in classes in mechanics, electricity, drafting, and wood-working. The trade school provides a great opportunity for acquiring practical experience. They learn by doing the actual thing. This is more profitable to them than learning from books.

Driver education proves popular with eligible students of Spaulding. Classroom work, as well as the practical experience of operating a car, is included in this course. Art classes are elective for those who wish to participate.

Our three capable janitors keep our school sparkling at all times. The cafeteria staff serve well-planned meals for students through a system of two lunch periods.

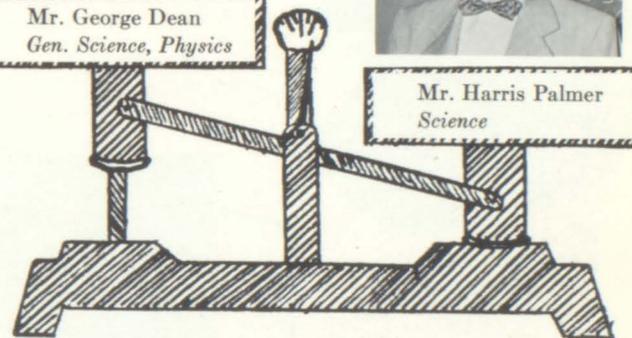

We, the students, sincerely thank our wonderful faculty who have showed us the way through our four years of high school. Without their guidance and inspiration at times when we needed it the most, we would not have been able to receive our fine education which we may now call our own. Thanks—from the bottom of our hearts.

teachers always*

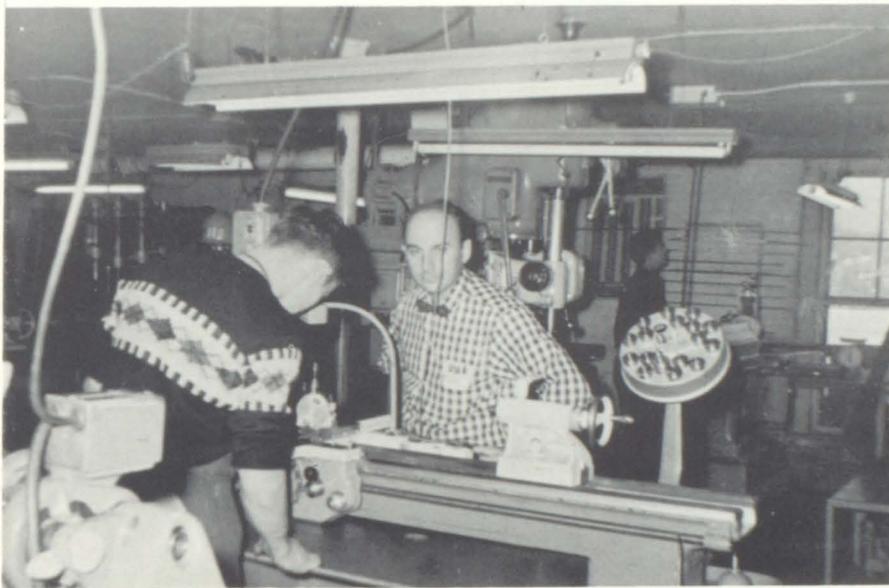

Juniors and Seniors are reading their Sentinels in 114 study hall.

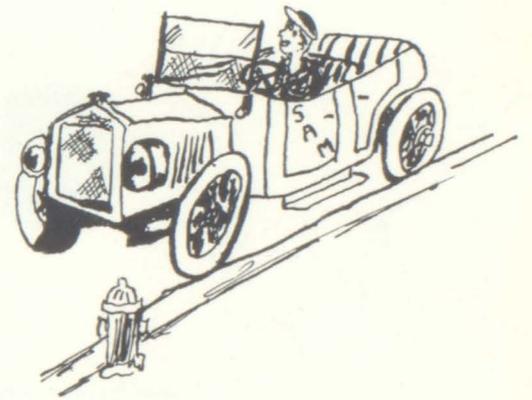

One of Mrs. McGill's English classes hears a Shakespearean report by David Friberg.

These future homemakers are hard at work in Room 2, under the excellent guidance of Miss Dix.

Some boys work in machine shop on the hill under Mr. Norris' direction.

Careful, boys! Let's not blow up the chemistry lab. Ronnie, Andrea, and Billy experiment, with Mr. Palmer's help.

These happy golden years are passing, and now we have reached the grand finale, our Senior year. We will always remember this year—a teacher's scowl, our Coronation Dance, a teacher's word of encouragement, and then Class Day. Our last act as Seniors will be graduation. With a tear in eye and diploma in hand, we will step with measured tread for the last time to the solemn strains of the Spaulding March. As graduates looking into the golden future, we will forever hold dear our memories of Spaulding. There certainly will be much to reminisce.

SENIORS

Douglas Gordon, president; Joanne Wilson, treasurer; Mary Agnes Finn, secretary; Claire Lawliss, vice-president.

On September 1953, we entered Spaulding with fear and trepidation wondering if we would ever find our way through the maze of halls and rooms and the crowds of upperclassmen.

Our first big dance we attended was the Freshman Reception put on by the Student Council. At first, we were a little shy and scared, but as the evening wore on our shyness wore off and eleven o'clock came all too soon. Here we went through out first receiving line.

Later on it became necessary to have some class officials and those elected were Douglas Gordon, president; Claire Lawliss, vice-president; Mary Agnes Finn, secretary; and Joanne Wilson, treasurer.

In February the annual class play contest was held, and our entry in the contest was called "The Doctor in Spite of Himself."

When June rolled around, we were able to wear our class colors of blue and gold for the first time and proudly march down the aisle to the "Spaulding March."

Whether we be shy and curious freshmen,

Jayvee cheerleaders are Renee Gray, Donna Murray, Judy Thow, Betsy Bacon, and Louise Hotte.

We began our second year at Spaulding in September 1954 feeling very superior to the new freshmen because we were sophomores.

Later in September we chose our class officers. Janet Barrett was chosen president; David Friberg, vice-president; Barbara McKnight, secretary; and Renee Gray, treasurer.

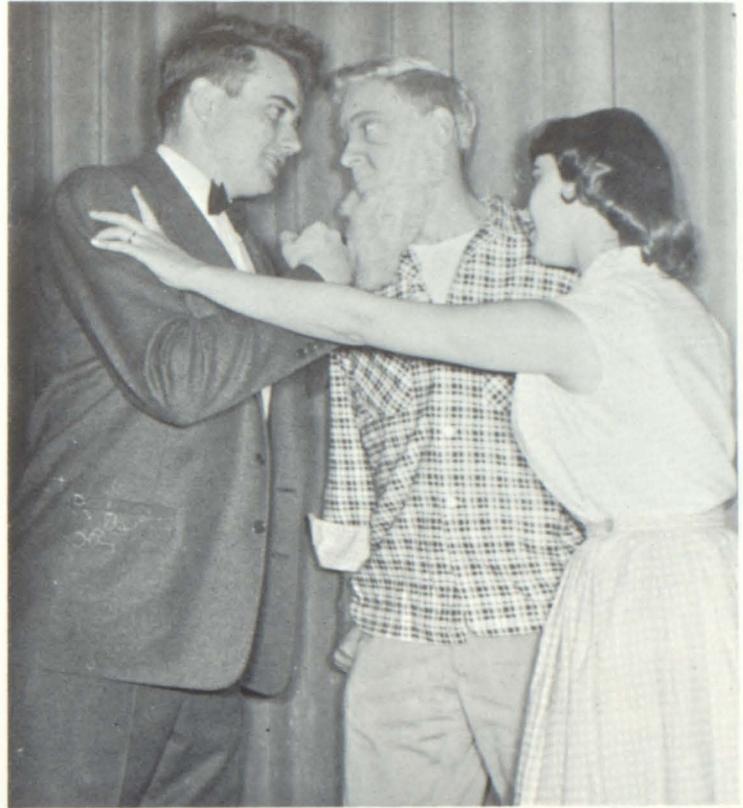

Our Sophomore Hop turned out to be a gala affair just as we anticipated with the auditorium decorated in a Halloween theme. The witch riding her broomstick across the moonlight stage failed to scare any of the happy dancers away.

"The Marriage Proposal" was the sophomore entry in the class play contest held in March. With such fine actors and actresses, we turned out to be the winners of the contest.

In April we received our long-awaited class rings and proudly showed them to everybody.

Then it was time for class day again, and this time we marched down the right hand aisle.

We were Juniors!

easy-going sophomores,

This group seemed to have enjoyed themselves at the Sophomore Hop.

Renee Gray, treasurer; Barbara McKnight, secretary; David Friberg, Vice-president; Janet Barrett, president were the capable officers of our Sophomore year.

Our Junior play, "Finders Keepers," was presented on March 14, 1956, in the interclass play contest. The cast consisted of David Parnigoni, Judy Thow, and Louise Racine (absent from picture).

or proud juniors,

Our class officers were Fred Rugo, president; Claire Lawliss, treasurer; Joanne Wilson, secretary; Gordon Riddell, vice president. They did a splendid job during a very important year.

All dressed up for Class Day! D. Murray, R. Gray, J. Thow, M. Emslie, and M. Finn at the last class day as spectators. We hope!

Here we are upperclassmen! Our Junior year with half our high school days gone by. We all plan to make our last two years as pleasant and as interesting as the first two happy years.

The class election of Nov. 23 proved that we were determined to have a successful year. Our class officers were president, Fred Rugo; vice president, Gordon Riddell; treasurer, Claire Lawliss; and secretary, Joanne Wilson.

On May 11, 1956, we had our Junior prom. The theme, "Moonlight in Vermont," was pleasantly effective. A spectacular covered bridge made by Ray Pinard and David Parnigoni at the entrance of the auditorium was the main attraction. A sugar house, a wishing well, a half moon with a blinking nose, and a beautiful Camel's Hump Mountain scene were also very attractive.

Much credit goes to Miss Grace Bixby and Mr. David Seeley, our class advisers, who helped make our prom a tremendous success.

Memories are made of this.

our ultimate goal.

The auditorium was a Vermont wonderland after all the stars were scintillating. We had a lot of fun.

"A penny in a well. Good wishes we fortell." Everyone enjoying themselves at the Junior Prom.

A real covered bridge at the entrance was a lot of work, but these boys loved it.

This year's DAR Good Citizenship Girl is Barbara McKnight. She was chosen by her classmates and the faculty on the basis of dependability, service, personality, and unselfish interest in school, community, and nation. She also received an honorable mention in the state DAR contest.

During her junior year Carole Fournier had the honor of winning one of the American Legion Auxiliary prizes. The contest was open to sophomores, juniors, and seniors. Carole won five dollars for her essay on the Constitution of the United States.

Spaulding offers many awards for proficiency both in the field and in the classroom.

The athletes receive letters or sweaters and letters if they have played at least half the games of a season and are recommended by the coach. These awards are approved and presented by the Student Council.

Scholastic S's are awarded for one year's average of all A's in at least four prepared subjects. These are the most coveted awards in Spaulding and are given by the Alumni Association.

The Good Citizenship girl is chosen by the senior class with the approval of the faculty.

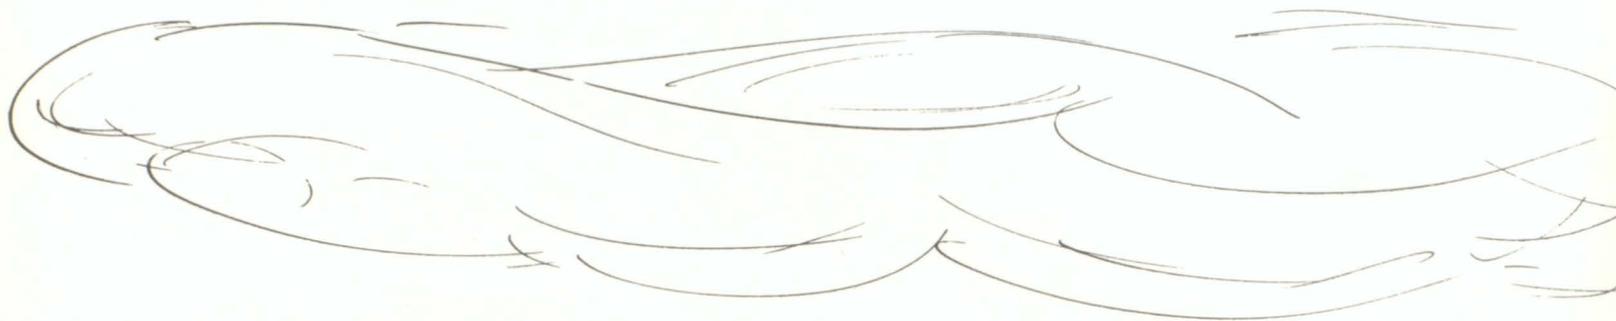

Donna Murray, C. Douglas Gordon, and Linda Eastman were the recipients of the Junior English prize. This award of five dollars is presented to the boy and girl in the junior class who receive the highest marks on an examination given to all juniors who have had an all A average in English.

Almost every Spauldingite has at least one activity in which he or she is active or at least interested.

Spaulding offers such a wide variety of activities: band, orchestra, glee club, dramatics, debating, Spanish club, French club, J.C.L., Future Teachers of America, Future Homemakers of America, cheer-leading, Sentinel, to mention a few.

There is much to be gained from participating in these activities: leadership training, the spirit of teamwork, valuable experience, recreation. In addition, there is that satisfaction of having done something important.

As we look back, in later years it will doubtless be these activities which we will remember fondest.

The week of June 17 will be one always remembered by the seven girls representing Spaulding High School in the 1956 session of Green Mountain Girls State. These delegates were Carmen Carcoba, Linda Eastman, Mary Agnes Finn, Nancy Ladd, Barbara McKnight, Julie Watts, and Joanne Wilson. Joanne received the position of Auditor of Accounts.

The highlights of the week were Inauguration Night when Linda Greiner gave her retiring address as the 1955 governor of Girls State, and the trip to the State Capitol where Nancy Ladd presided over the House of Representatives as Speaker of the House.

It was a week of learning, loving, laughing, singing, and working with some wonderful girls, whom we look forward to meeting again.

Spaulding can well be proud of the boys who represented them at Green Mountain Boys State last summer. Eight boys sponsored by various Barre organizations spent a week of fun and activities that they will never forget. The boys who were fortunate enough to be chosen to attend Boys State were John Berinato, David Freeman, Roger Lane, Reid Lawson, Ronald Mori, Fred Rugo, Andrea Sarzanini, and George Storti. Boys State, aside from teaching boys from different communities to get acquainted and to learn to live together, also teaches much about our democratic form of government.

At the end of the week; the boys reluctantly said good-bye to their newly-made friends, and all agreed that they now had a better knowledge of the functions of a democratic government.

Just before the bell sounds announcing the end of the period, a patter of feet is heard in the halls as the monitors go to their respective posts to direct the heavy traffic in our corridors.

These members of the Senior class are chosen by the faculty on the basis of their leadership, responsibility, and dependability. This year their adviser, Mr. Dean, has guided them in whatever small problems they may have had.

When the lost, bewildered freshmen come to Spaulding, they look toward these upperclassmen as a small child looks towards a policeman, for the monitor plays an important part in guiding the underclassmen to the rooms where they will find their designated class.

The Student Council is the student body government of Spaulding High School. It is made up of all the home room presidents and all of those seniors who represented their home rooms their junior year.

The president of the Student Council is elected in a school-wide campaigning election from among the eligible senior members!

The meetings are conducted in a highly democratic manner, and these methods help to prepare the representatives for future life.

Yearly, the Student Council sponsors the Freshman Reception and a scholarship to a student worthy of it.

Parades, concerts, All State Music Festival—all this was part of the eventful year in which the Spaulding band participated.

Thursday was the day designated for our band to prepare for all these things, and they used the time to its full advantage as could be shown by their performances.

With Mr. Foulkes and Mr. Mori helping them, it wasn't long before a new piece of music began to sound like something.

This year the band was divided into two parts, a concert band and a marching band. Some members belonged to both groups while others belonged to only one, depending on their preferences and abilities.

Band delegates were sent to Winooski Valley Festival where they took part in the concert composed of bands from many schools.

Our whole band marched in the parade at the festival and made a fine showing.

Something new was introduced into Spaulding this year with the exchange of a concert with the Portland, Maine, high school band.

As is an annual procedure, the band took part in the Christmas Concert. Added to these local appearances was the presence of the band at football and basketball games.

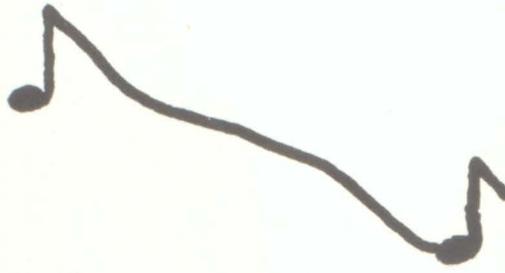

Summing it up, this was an active and successful year for the Spaulding Band.

Officers of Orchestra were Ronald Mori, Julie Watts, Pauline Cerasoli, and David Freeman.

Allen, John and Barbara look over some music scripts.

The Spaulding Orchestra always turns in a good performance due to many rehearsals.

The Orchestra could be found working hard every Tuesday afternoon under the watchful eyes of Mr. Mori and Mr. Foulkes.

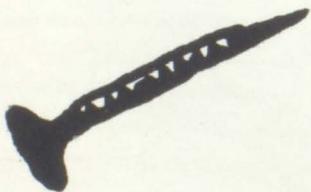

Proof of their efforts was their terrific performance at both the Christmas and Spring Concerts. During the former, they rendered along with the Glee Club, an original composition by Mr. Foulkes entitled "A Christmas Carol."

This year Spaulding sent a large delegation to Winoski Valley Music Festival as well as to All State Music Festival.

Officers elected for orchestra happened to be the same as those for band, although the offices were not the same. Those chosen were Polly Cerasoli, Julie Watts, David Freeman, and Ronald Mori.

Spaulding's two musical directors, Mr. Mori and Mr. Foulkes, certainly deserve a great deal of credit for all their efforts this year.

Mr. Mori is well known to all of us, having been here several years. Until the arrival of Mr. Foulkes this year, he had handled all three musical organizations here at Spaulding, plus the grammar school music groups. In spite of the heavy load he was carrying, he always managed to produce excellent concerts.

Mr. Foulkes came to us this year and besides having helped direct the music groups, he has made quite a name for himself, as he is a very proficient composer and pianist.

Summing it up, we Spauldingites really feel that we have two of the most capable directors in the state.

Our accompanist, Mary Agnes Finn, has played for Glee Club for three years.

Our Glee Club, under the direction of Mr. Foulkes and Mr. Mori, has worked very hard this year to maintain the excellent reputation it has had in the past. Every Monday afternoon found them working from 2:00 until 2:50, and the results certainly showed it.

Spaulding sent delegates to Winooski Valley Festival and to All State. They also produced excellent concerts at Christmas and in the spring in Barre.

Officers of Glee Club turned out to be an all-girl affair with Claire Lawliss, president; Joanne Wilson, vice-president; and Polly Cerasoli, secretary-treasurer. The group included many seniors.

Hats off to the members and directors of the 1956-1957 season! You've done a very commendable job indeed!

Did you see someone going through our halls on October 5, 1956, clad in a Roman toga and shouting, "Veni, Vidi, Vici"? No, Caesar wasn't here. It was the Virgil Class preparing the J.C.L. initiation.

The Junior Classical League meets with its club adviser, Miss Austin, on the first Friday of each month. This year's officers are Consul, Carole Fournier, and Scriba, Sandra Cameron. The entertainment committee provides an amusing program which is often connected with the important holiday of that particular month. After refreshments have been served, the group adjourns with added classical knowledge.

Sound effects from behind the piano add much hilarity to the J.C.L. program.

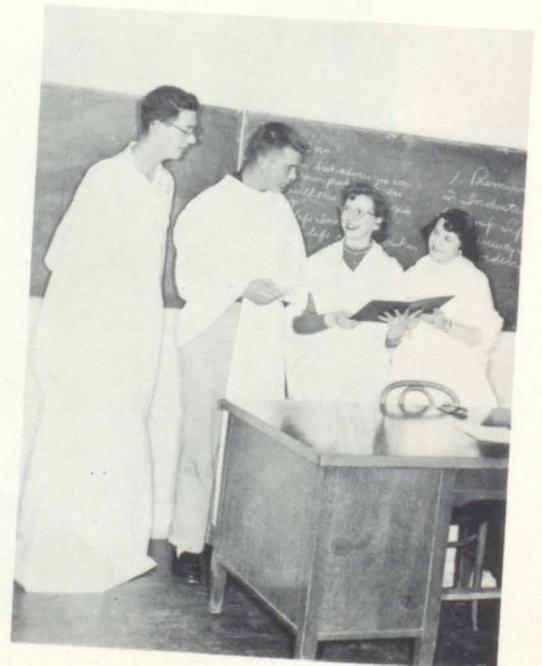

The Spanish Club meets with its adviser, Miss Bixby, on the second Friday of each month. Sylvia Ladd, president; Phyllis Usle, vice president; Joyce Bond, secretary, and Naomi Simoneau, treasurer, conduct the business meetings. Richard Cassavant, Phyllis Usle, Judith McTagget, and Marcia McKenzie are chairmen of various committees.

Selling pencils with "Spaulding High School" written on them was one of the Spanish Club's successful projects. The club also gave fifty dollars to the Junior Chamber of Commerce to help support a Hungarian family. Considering the social side, the Spanish Club had a very colorful Christmas party. The breaking of the pinta added to the excitement of the evening.

R. Lane, R. Murphy, L. Eastman, and C. Fournier take the Latin students on a trip through Roman history.

The French Club, which meets on the fourth Friday of each month, got off to a flying start with a humorous initiation ceremony. Various stunts and forfeits added much hilarity to the afternoon. Heading the club this year are Mrs. Sassone, adviser; Elizabeth Livingston, president; John McKernon, treasurer; and Renee Gray, secretary.

Planning the French Follies, the annual French Club play, is both difficult and interesting. A committee is elected to write the script. This is usually composed of a French theme with innumerable talent acts woven in. As the designated night approaches, as unpleasant memories of long rehearsals vanish, and a true French atmosphere prevails.

Mr. Fuller helps J. Saia, D. Friberg, R. Broberg, A. Sarzanini, R. Guiduli, R. Mori, R. Lane, M. Carcoba, and F. Rugo prepare their district newspaper.

The second Tuesday of each month finds the Future Teachers of America assembled for their meeting. Nancy Pelkey, president, presides over the meeting with Jean Kennedy, Myrna Ziter, and Arlene Hutchins as vice president, secretary, and treasurer, respectively. Miss Sinclair and Miss Meisner are the advisers.

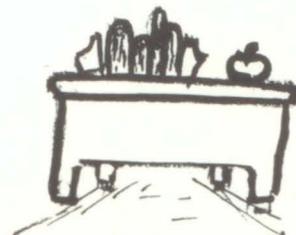

The purpose of this club is obvious. They discuss different phases of teaching and the problems confronting each case. The members were fortunate in having Mr. Martinetti, president of Johnson Teachers' College, as a guest speaker at one of their meetings. The future will find many of these students at their posts from kindergarten teachers to college professors.

Misses Meisner and Sinclair show J. Kennedy, S. Farnham, C. Lawliss, A. Hutchins, N. Tucker, and N. Pelkey some of the important things to remember in making up a test.

The Key Club is a service club. Heading the group are Ronald Mori, president; Thomas Dunleavy, vice president; Roger Lane, corresponding secretary; John Saia, recording secretary; and Manuel Carcoba, treasurer. Mr. Fuller is their faculty adviser.

The club works on many projects during the year. Andrea Sarzanini is the District Lieutenant Governor. Compiling the district newspaper takes much of the members' time. Two other projects which the club has worked on are selling peanuts for the Kiwanis and selling forget-me-nots for the disabled veterans. Thus the club keeps very busy helping others.

The Future Homemakers of America meet on the third Wednesday of each month in the Home Economics room. Miss Dix and Mrs. Marchall are the advisers. Officers are Elizabeth Livingston, president; Roberta Sibley, vice president; Judy McDonald, Secretary; and Judy Rossi, treasurer. Joanne Rouse, Maria Brigham, Joan Burns, and Brenda Couillard are leaders of various groups.

The girls have had a busy year. Installing officers of the Montpelier F.H.A. was an interesting experience. Elizabeth Livingston and Priscilla Newcomb accompanied the state adviser, Miss Snell, who spoke to many high school groups about starting F.H.A. chapters. An emblem ceremony and a food sale have also kept the girls very busy.

Debating is a newly-organized club this year. The adviser is Mr. Clogston. After many eliminations, four debaters were chosen. They are Naomi Simoneau, Nancy Morgan, Dilio Mariotti, and Daniel Monte. The group has been working hard developing many different topics. On February 2, the four debaters and their adviser will journey to Randolph, where they will enter their first official debate. Dilio and Dann are taking the negative side; Nancy and Naomi, the positive. Everyone wishes them the best of luck, not only in this debate but also in those which follow.

E. Livingston, M. MacAskill, and S. Blanchard discuss the topic for the day.

Early in September, those Seniors who wished to work on Our Echo signed up, and the staff was chosen from these students by the advisers, Mrs. McGill of the Editorial staff, and Mr. Seeley of the Business staff.

Julie Watts and Douglas Gordon were chosen co-editors to head the Editorial staff. Linda Eastman became Senior Editor. The rest of the Editorial staff consisted of John Berinato, Roger Lane, Andrea Sarzanini, Mary Agnes Finn, Stephen Johansson, Frederick Rugo, Sue Ford, and Carole Fournier. Elizabeth Livingston and Shirley Smith did the typing.

The Business staff, headed by business manager Nancy Pelky included Claire Lawliss, Manuel Carcoba, Nancy Tucker, Claire Casellini, Barbara McKnight, Barbara Ballou, and Ralph Guiduli.

The first job of the staff was to choose a theme. "Memories are Made of This" was the theme chosen. Next came the job of planning the entire book in rough form and assigning specific sections to different members of the staff.

Every person assigned a section planned his preliminary dummy pages, which were submitted to the editors and advisers for approval.

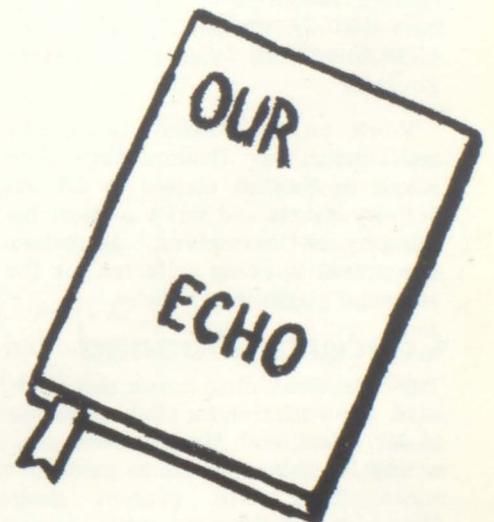

Meanwhile the business staff were out soliciting ads for the Echo.

Each spread assignment required scheduling of pictures, writing of copy, and checking of the final dummy. Special thanks goes to Raymond Jacobs, Andrea Sarzanini, David Lamberti, Glenn Atherton, and George Storti for their art work.

Shape of Lipstick Tells Character

Compare your "broken" lipstick with the psychologists' findings that the way it's worn reveals a great deal about your personality and character.

The "plateau" shape shows ambition, perserverance, disdain of trivia, extreme competence and a tendency toward abruptness. These are the characteristics of a surgeon or editor.

An "oval" shows you are intelligent, practical, have a good sense of proportion, but are a bit distant. These qualities help in law and journalism.

A "rounded" end means you're orderly, patient, cheerful, and considerate. You'd make a fine secretary or banker.

For the remainder of this article look at your last Sentinel. Sorry about the mistake.

Several Changes Made At SHS

Several changes have been initiated in Spaulding. One is the new bell schedule, allowing for a thirty minute home room period. This schedule has been in effect for several weeks and seems to be an excellent improvement. The period affords time for assemblies, elections, class meetings and other activities which formerly meant rescheduling of the class for the day. Five minutes

The Sentinel office has been the scene of many happy and worthwhile hours as the staff of editors from the senior class has compiled the news of school activities and events into the Sentinel, Spaulding's bi-weekly newspaper.

Laura Lane, George Storti, and Norma Girard cover the news and front page material on the staff, while Nancy Ladd and John McKernan set up the editorial and feature pages. David Parnigoni's Meet the Staff column, the exchange column by Judy Thow, Allen Kent's club reports, and Ronald Mori's Musical Notes are all popular parts of the Sentinel. This year the sport page was handled by George Anderson and John Saia. Bonnie Biggs and Muriel Emslie are in charge of advertising and business, and Shirley Farnham and Pauline Cerasoli handle the circulation department. Joanne Wilson and Jean Kennedy are the typists and Joanne also is the proof reader. Wayne Heath is the Sentinel photographer.

One of the highlights for the Sentinel editors was a trip to Boston in October to attend the New England Scholastic Press Association Conference. Mrs. Marjorie Worthington, Sentinel adviser, accompanied the eight seniors to Boston, and this weekend will serve as an unforgettable part of Sentinel work.

Whether working furiously to meet a deadline, taking notes at a Boston press conference, making plans for the next issue, or just being a member of the student body receiving the Sentinel, staff and student body alike will treasure the Sentinel as an unforgettable memory.

During our four years at Spaulding, we have gathered at our clubrooms for many reasons. Some came to watch television or maybe play ping pong, cards, or checkers. Spaulding has produced many outstanding athletes on the field, court, and slope. Most important of all, however, she has produced good sportsmen.

Good sportsmanship is developed in sports for player and spectators. The team may win or lose, it is not important, it is the spirit which counts.

All is not glory in sports. It is only through long, hard drills and practices that a team can develop and perfect itself. A game won brings a certain satisfaction to a hard-working player that only he can experience.

In the years to come, as we look back on our years at Spaulding, we will remember well the many games in which we played or those we saw.

On September 1, a large group of boys reported to head coach Deep Corey. They all knew that their work was cut out for them because the first game was only ten days away!

Things looked bright at the start with the team built around ten seniors. Then the picture changed; Sandy Florucci twisted his knee in the Lebanon game and had to sit out most of the season. Sandy Riddell had to miss the biggest game, Montpelier.

Senior ball carriers included Bob Broberg, Sandy Florucci, Dick Fontana, and Ken McPherson. Sandy Riddell was the able quarterback and passer. Opening the holes in the line were Bunny George, Bob Desilets, John Saia, and Fred Rugo. Some of the kicking was done by John Berinato. Bunny George, Bob Desilets, and Fred Rugo switched to the backfield for power, short-yardage plays.

Burlington became the first of the big teams to lose to Spaulding. The Burlington team came to Barre with hope of winning. Hope was Burlington's best; Spaulding won the hard-fought game by a score of 19 to 13. Toward the season's end, Spaulding journeyed to Springfield for its annual contest with the Cosmos. Before the game Spaulding was a three-touchdown underdog. The odds were thrown aside, and Spaulding fought to a 13 to 6 win.

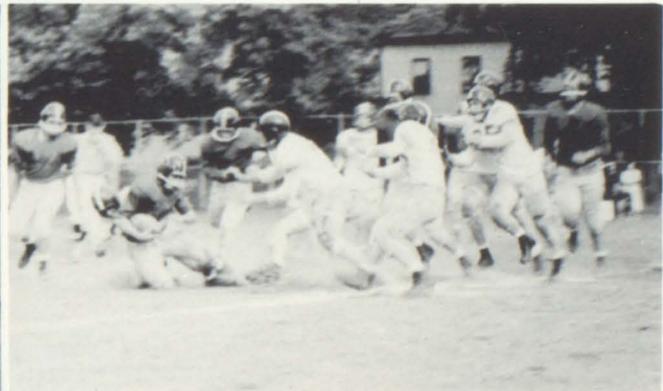

Because of their outstanding play throughout the season, Bunny George and Ray Rouleau were named to the All-Northern Conference First Team. Bill Aimi, a freshman, received honorable mention.

Although Spaulding tried hard, they failed to win them all.

The majorettes forming a V are J. Knutson, J. Provencher, G. Buick, Capt. M. Finn, M. Muzzi, D. Valierre, and L. O'Connor. Absent is L. Drown.

Garbed in those attractive maroon and blue uniforms, those snappy majorettes come strutting down the floor at halftime. Because of long practices every Friday afternoon under the guidance of Mr. Mori, they were able to produce a variety of formations and movements which added a lot of color and gaiety to the games. Included in this year's squad were Genella Buick, Lyn Drown, Mary Agnes Finn, capt., Joanne Knutson, Marcia Muzzi, Lorraine O'Connor, Janet Provencher, and Denise Valierre.

Stepping it up is Captain Mary Agnes.

The spirited belles

“Rah! Rah! Fight! Fight!” are the familiar shouts of the peppy Crimson Tide cheerleaders at those exciting football and basketball games. Their tricky cheers and excellent timing are due to many hard hours of practice after school. This year’s squad includes Cynthia Buttura, Rosalie D’Agastino, Ania Gauthier, Capt. Renee Gray, Sandra Lovely, Katherine McGoff, and Donna Murray. Everyone will agree that their school spirit and classy red and blue uniforms put the boys in top spirit at home games as well as away.

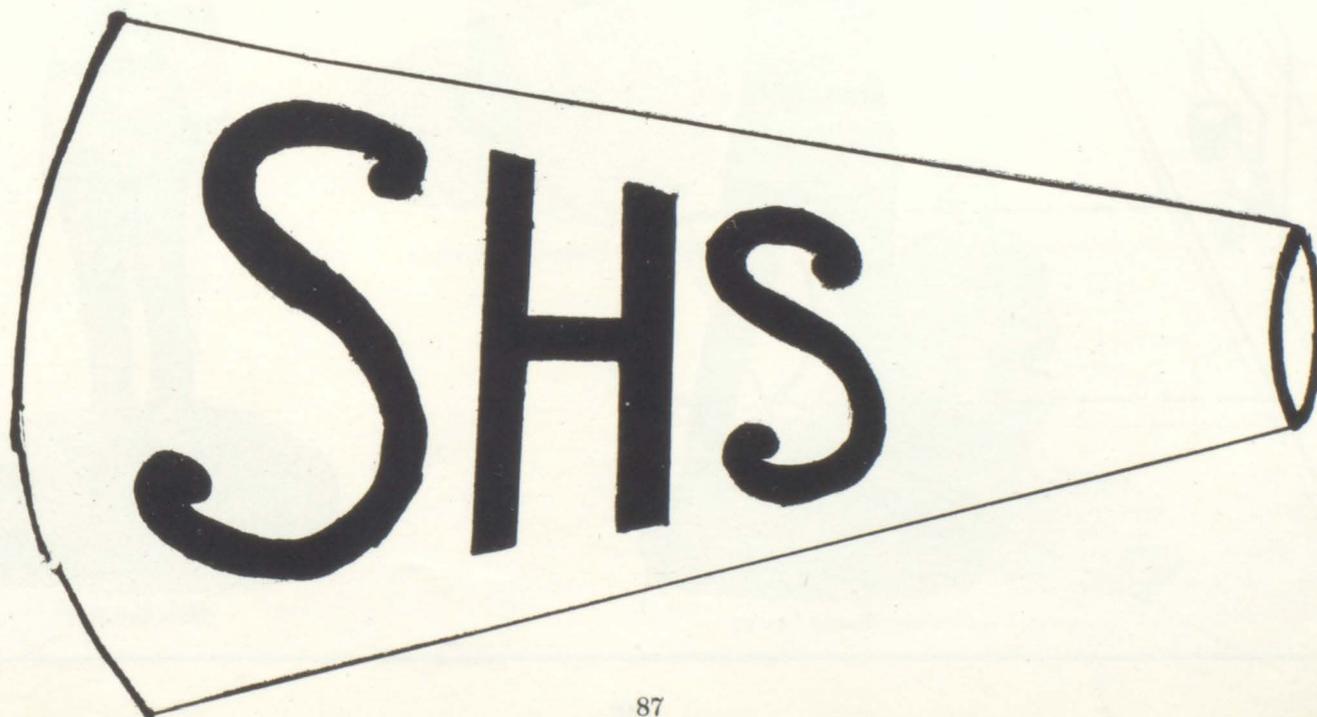

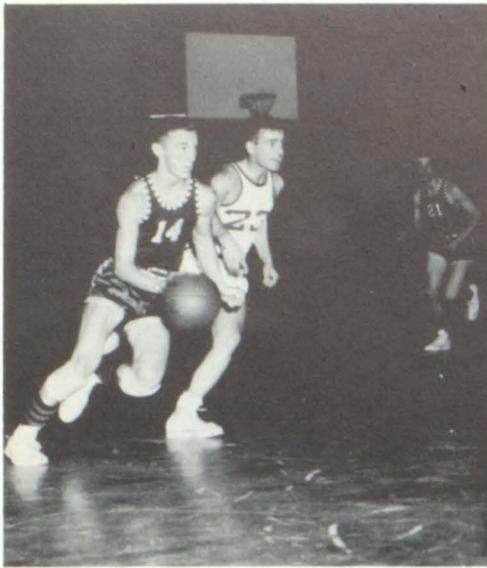

The cheerleaders in a V formation are A. Gauthier, R. D’Agostino, D. Murray, Capt. R. Gray, S. Lovely, K. McGoff, and C. Buttura.

The 1956-'57 season proved very disastrous and was one of the worst that the Tide has ever experienced. It saw the Crimson under its third coach in as many years, Pat Huntington.

The Tide had double wins over class B Randolph and singles each in Northern League play over Winooski and Burlington. The high point of the season came when the boys beat the best team in the state, the Burlington Seahorses. Senior guards, Dave Friberg and John Berinato, paced the great team effort as Spaulding was victorious to the tune of 65-69.

There were three seniors on the team: Dave Friberg, John Berinato, and Bunny George. Dave missed a good part of the year because of a shoulder injury and it wasn't until after his return that the Tide started to roll.

Coach Jean Hamilton

This year the Spaulding skiers are enjoying their first season as an organized team. Early in November, our new coach, Jean Hamilton, had a surprising turnout of twenty-one boys. The veteran skiers elected Brian Barquin as captain. With five lettermen returning, hopes were high for a successful season. Accidents took their toll. Early in the season, Ralph Guiduli received a leg fracture, and shortly before the State Championship, Steve Johansson was injured while skiing slalom. Both accidents occurred during practice sessions at Mt. Mansfield.

The team qualified for a berth in the Vermont Championship, and there the boys placed high, being beaten by only one Northern team. The Spaulding skiers continued to be successful in the remaining ski meets of the season.

Crimson in fine style.

Coach Slayton came to Spaulding from Littleton, N. H., to coach the Crimson baseball team. He is a graduate of the University of New Hampshire and Springfield College. Mr. Slayton has played baseball professionally and has coached at U.V.M., Tilton Prep., and Littleton N. H. High.

This season promises to be a successful one for the Crimson, coached by Steve Slayton. There are many veterans returning from the Northern League champs of last year. The eight returning seniors are Dave Friberg, Bob Dente, Fred Rugo, Steve Johansson, Brian Barquin, John Saia, John Berinato, and Bob Saldi.

Pitching is one of the Tides' strong points. The two seniors, Johnny Berinato and Bob Saldi, are ably backed by two fire-balling underclassmen, Butch Anderson and Dick Cassani.

The infield is star-studded with Dave Friberg at shortstop, Brian Barquin at second base, and Fred Rugo at the hot corner. This is a good combination and, along with a good outfield, it should mold into a fine ball club.

The outfield is made up of three slugging veterans: Bob Dente, John Saia, and Steve Johansson. This is a hard-working and a hard-hitting outfit.

The seniors will have to work hard to hold down the starting positions, for there are many good underclassmen trying to push the older boys out of the picture.

Whenever an organization of Spaulding is in need of backing, whether it be Our Echo, the Sentinel or the Junior Prom, the merchants of Barre respond very graciously and without delay. They, like the student body, support our extra-curricular activities unceasingly with a deep and proud spirit.

Many of these merchants give our merchandising students an opportunity to meet their class requirements, and other students are given the opportunity to meet people and learn the trade.

As buyers of their many and varied goods, we do and in turn shall be giving them support.

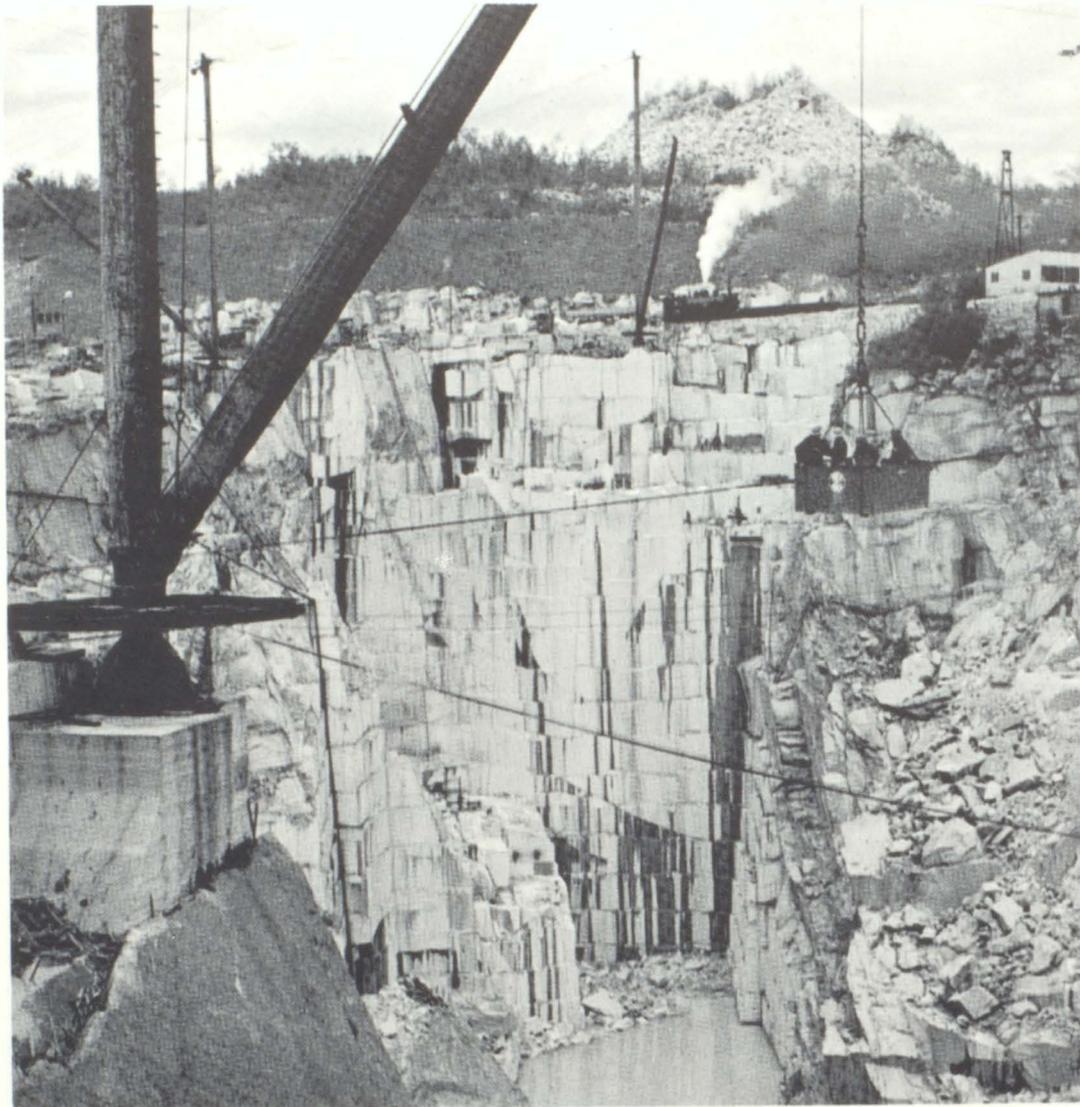

To them we say thanks, and in the future we shall attempt to show our appreciation for their cooperation.

We of the Echo staff have tried very hard to give to you, our readers, an all-around picture of Spaulding life. We have covered short biographies of your fellow classmates, sports, and activities.

This memoir now comes to a close along with the doors of Spaulding High. Our lives as Spauldingites have been happy, full, and glorious, and with a regretful sadness we tread down the long walk into our golden future.

As alumni we will recall many times the truly wonderful memories of our years at Spaulding. Although changes are made, we will have Our Echo to consult for names and places as we know them now.
