Express Yourself

Signs are often an opportunity for in the context of a shared culture. Now...

Working with the Vermont Historical Society, we were able to bring in an engaging, professional, museum-quality display to SAM that allowed us to highlight local artifacts from our collections as well as present a unique perspective on Vermont history. Setup was simple and easy, and our loaned exhibit “Everywhere A Sign” was a success...for visitors, for our Board and volunteers, and for the Saint Albans Museum.

Alex Lehning, Executive Director, Saint Albans Museum (2018)

Everywhere A Sign

Signs are everywhere. They inform, educate and promote. Big or small, they relay messages in a shared language. Everywhere a Sign explores the diversity, artistry and impact of signs on our everyday lives through engaging text and images from the Vermont Historical Society’s collections and beyond. Five dynamic exhibit panels explore different parts of the story, including signs as forms of expression, unique Vermont signs, and how signs reflect cultural change.

Solzhenitsyn In Vermont

The Solzhenitsyn in Vermont exhibit celebrates the life and work of Russian novelist and historian Aleksandr Solzhenitsyn, particularly his time living in Cavendish, Vermont and its influence on his life and work. Telling the story through photographs, quotes, and family memories, the exhibit includes 5 main exhibit panels, along with 4 timeline panels noting important moments from Solzhenitsyn's life.
